Guy Lucas wakes up early in order to go to the gym. He downs a protein shake, some preworkout and some creatine (and some more preworkout), and dons his gymshark.

After his supplement
extravaganza, he hops in his car and drives to the gym.

After arriving at the gym, he realizes that it is packed, and he can't even grab a pair of dumbbells. Frustrated, he leaves the gym.

With his preworkout wearing off, Guy opens the app Line Log to find a nearby gym with a short line. He quickly finds one and rushes to it.

Guy makes it to the gym just in time and has a great workout. He also posts about 10 tiktoks.

After his workout,
Guy gets very hungry.
He opens up Line Log again and finds a restaurant that isn't too busy. He goes back to his car and drives to it, much less angrily than before.

Guy arrives at the restaurant and enjoys his meal. He then heads home for a well deserved nap.

Bob Butts's story

By John Flowers

Bob Butts is fighting for the noble cause of Qin

In conquering all the states in China to bring a end to war.

As Bob is

Crawling with his army to retake a castle in the state of Han

He finds himself a little parched.

He sighs telling his leading commander of his Great hunger. “Man I sure am hungry, but with my Crawling speed we could miss an opportunity in Battle especially if there is a line.

The leading commander's eyes flash as a revelation
Sparks in his mind. "Sire, permission to speak" "granted"
"With the app Line Logs you can see nearby food and the Status of the lines" "That's not possible Lu Bu" "Confirm
It for yourself sire!"

“By Dongbin’s wrath! We must leave this instance there is a taco bell close by with No line!” “Wait Sire look at the comments of the line Genghis Khan is stationed there with an army of five hundred thousand! It would be better to head to the Panda Express due north of us” “What would I do without your Lu Bu? Let us make haste!”

And with noises of laughter and heart felt comradery, Lu Bu & Bob Butts lived happily ever after.

Bill looks into his fridge and sees that he has nothing to eat.

He debates on ordering pizza for the again this week, but decides he wants something else.

He decides to get fast food to get something different, but waste as little time as possible. As he goes around town, He realizes that most of the fast food places have really long lines.

It would be a hassle to wait in the long lines with Bill's leg injury, but if he sits and waits then more people will just get in line in front of him.

He opens our app called Line Log to see if there are any places that don't have long lines near him.

Bill sees through the app that there is a place nearby that doesn't have a long line. He makes his way over and is quickly able to eat and then go back to his apartment to work.

Ben Morrow's Story

By Matt Linder

Ben Morrow is a college freshman at SUNY Binghamton in upstate New York. Throughout his high school career, Ben was a successful A student who played sports year-round; however, since arriving at college things have become much more challenging for him.

Ben has been so busy doing homework recently that he has no time to sacrifice waiting in lines at the dining hall or in a packed gym. As a result, he has lost all of his gains from high school.

Ben notices this change in his appearance and decides he needs to make a change. He downloads “Line Log”: the perfect solution to all of his problems.

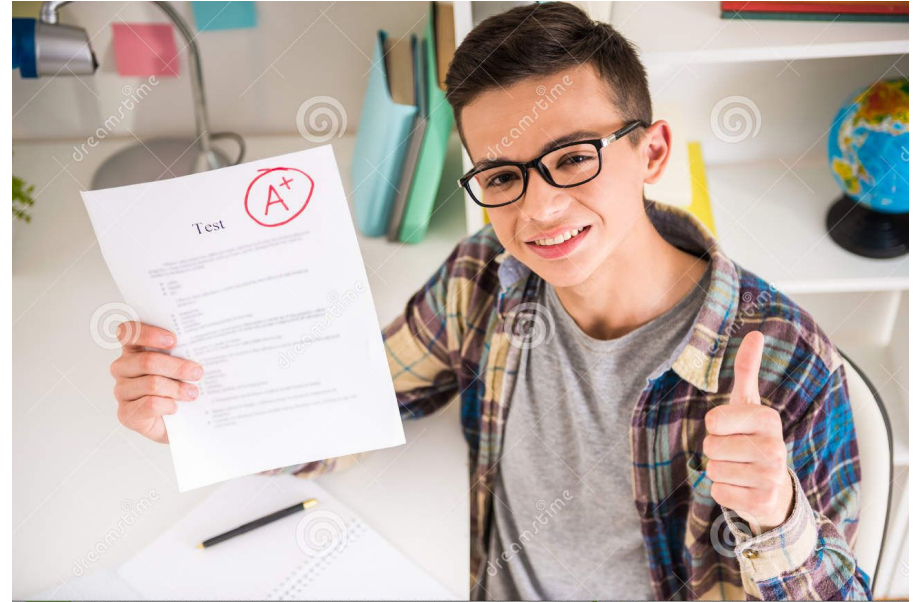

Ben can now check his phone every time he gets hungry and see the length of the lines at all of his dining halls and choose the hall that is most convenient for him. He can also check the condition of the gym throughout the day to see when it is least busy.

As a result of using this app, Ben's grades have gone back up and he isn't losing gains anymore. His college career is saved!
